Solvent

Low Odour

Description

Nemco Solvent is considered low-odour and is used for industrial and commercial applications for removing oil and grease, thinning oil-based paints, varnishes, or polyurethanes, and can also be used as a fuel burning agent.

Nemco Solvent is generally used in the vehicle repair and maintenance industry as a parts cleaning solvent. Keeping covers closed on parts cleaning equipment reduces evaporation and promotes a safer working environment. Removing heavy deposits with a scraper or wire brush before washing parts with solvent will help to extend the solvent's useful life.
